

XV WORLD FORESTRY CONGRESS

Building a Green, Healthy and Resilient Future with Forests

2-6 May 2022 | Coex, Seoul, Republic of Korea

Governance of Local Forest Commons

Friday, 6 May 2022 | 12:00 PM-1:30 PM PST

Co-Organizer

Institute of Sustainable Social-Ecological Systems
Renmin University of China
Seoul National University

Presenters

Prof. Liu Jinlong, Renmin University of China

Governancing collective forests in China: reflection, challenges and way forward

Dr. YOUN Yeo-Chang, Institute of Sustainable Social-Ecological Systems

Governance of Village Woodlands in Korea

Prof. Toshimori TAKAHASHI, Utsunomiya University

Japan's satoyama management system

Panel

Prof. Ryo Kosaka
University of Tokyo

Dr. Nathaniel Anderson
US Forest Service

Prof. Hongqiang Yang
Dean of College of Economics and
Management, Nanjing
Forestry University

Prof. Wil de Jong
Adjunct professor,
Renmin University of China
& professor emeritus,
Kyoto University

Researchers from China, Japan and Korea will present an in-depth review of how traditional village woodlands have survived and transformed throughout the times of globalization and climate change. The panel will draw the lessons on local forest governance towards strengthening the resilience of societies for nature conservation and livelihood improvement

