

IUFRO International and Multidisciplinary Scientific Conference

Forest-related policy and governance: Analyses in the environmental social sciences

Bogor - Indonesia, October 4 - 7, 2016

Call for Papers

Deadline: July 1st, 2016

Dear colleagues,

This IUFRO International and Multidisciplinary Scientific Conference will be held in Bogor- Indonesia, October 4 - 7, 2016. This conference is hosted by Bogor Agricultural University and University of Goettingen, co-hosted by the Indonesian Forestry Scholar Association (PERSAKI) as well as the Research, Innovation and Development Agency - Ministry of Environment and Forestry, Indonesia. This conference is also supported by IUFRO and Elsevier.

This international scholarly conference aims to be the global scientific hub for forest-related social sciences research including studies on forest-related empirical fields. This conference will compile latest scientific advance in forest-related policy analyses as well as wider forest-related governance studies e.g. political science, sociology, anthropology, human geography, regional development, economics, psychology, environment, forest history, legal studies, livelihood and tenure analyses. It strives to accommodate theoretical, methodological and empirical contributions from around the globe in topical sessions.

In addition, the conference aims to provide a platform for science-based contributions in interfacing scientific knowledge into policy and management practices. It hence dedicates a prominent session to trans-disciplinary questions at the science-policy interfacing and includes contributions from various disciplines on this issue as well.

Keynote speakers:

Prof. Alrun Agrawal (Michigan/USA)

Prof. Max Krott (Göttingen/Germany)

We invite you to participate and we encouraged you to propose your abstract for this conference through our website → <http://goo.gl/1v5Lg0>.
