WHAT WE ARE DOING

The Forest Health team of the FAO Forestry Division intends to develop a global product guideline for defining and implementing national forest biosecurity strategies that can help protect and mitigate the impacts that the emergence and spread of invasive species (insect pests, pathogens, weeds, and vertebrate pests) have on forests.

HOW YOU CAN SUPPORT US?

Help us understand the different needs and challenges faced on different landscapes around the globe, therefore assuring that all relevant topics will be covered by our work.
