

Resources for the Future Conference, August 27-29, 2013

International Union of Forest Research Organizations (IUFRO)

The IUFRO Resources for the Future task force is holding a conference that will feature world leaders in the forest resources field, and provide them with a venue to collaborate and share ideas with academia, government, industry and NGOs -- all stakeholders in the future of the world's forests.

The goal is to provide a platform where speakers can share their expertise in various areas and identify potential solutions. Four topics areas will be covered:

- Globalization and its implications for forests
- Plantations
- Bio-products and advanced building systems
- Forest ecosystem services

We invite you to join us in August. You will hear from leading world experts such as Andy White, Russ Taylor, Don Roberts, Luis Neves Silva, Rob De Fegely, Coosje Hoogendoorn, Miles Drake and Sven Wunder.

When: August 27th – 29th, 2013
Where: Faculty of Forestry, UBC, Forest Sciences Centre
Agenda: Please refer to website
Website: <http://iufro2013.forestry.ubc.ca/>

Cost: $300 - Early bird registration (register by June 15th)
$350 – Regular registration (after June 15th)
$450 – onsite
$225 – student (limited number)

Accommodation: Reserved blocks of rooms in several hotels and locations (see website).

IUFRO is a non-profit, non-governmental international network of forest scientists promoting global cooperation in forest-related research. Within IUFRO there are particular Task forces that work on high-level, broad-based issues. The task force Resources for the Future has the objective of examining some of the ways that future forests might be utilized. It was established in 2011 and is currently lead by Dr. John Innes.

For more information on the Resources for the Future conference, please refer to the website or contact:

Dr. John Innes, Dean

Faculty of Forestry, UBC

PH: (604) 822-3542; Email: iufro.2013@ubc.ca

For more information on IUFRO, please visit: <http://www.iufro.org/>